December 2009

Dear Friend,

Losing a loved one, a parent, brother or sister, grandparent or friend, may be the most devastating and disrupting experience of a child's life. For ten years the Children's Bereavement Center (CBC) has provided free peer support groups, helping children, teens and adults to find the camaraderie, comfort and information needed to rebuild their lives after loss.

You can help a grieving child by supporting the CBC "Rockin' on the Green" through your sponsorship/auction donation. Your generous support is vital to enable hundreds of children and parents to attend the free peer support groups at the CBC.

Rockin' will be held on Saturday, March 13, 2010 at Ransom Everglades School in Coconut Grove. This casual and fun evening includes a delicious dinner by Chef David Schwadron, and exciting live and silent auctions.

The CBC is South Florida's only nonprofit Center dedicated to helping grieving children and families. CBC receives no government support or insurance reimbursement, relying primarily on donations from our community to meet the growing demand for our services. Sponsors will be acknowledged at our event, as well as in Touchstones, the CBC's newsletter.

Please become a sponsor and join the celebration on March 13th, along with over 400 guests, on behalf of The Children's Bereavement Center. You can help us turn lives around after loss and provide comfort and caring when our children need it most.

Thanking you in advance,

Mindy Cassel, Ph.D.
